

- · The Fund aims at long-term capital growth and income by investing in US and/or Canadian corporate debt securities and equities
- The Fund is exposed to significant risks of investment/general market, company-specific, creditworthiness/credit rating/downgrading, default, valuation, asset allocation, country and region, emerging market, interest rate, currency (such as exchange controls, in particular RMB), and the adverse impact on RMB share classes due to currency depreciation. The Fund's investments focus on US and Canada which may increase concentration risk.
- The Fund may invest in high-yield (non-investment grade and unrated) investments and convertible bonds which may subject to higher risks, such as volatility, loss of principal and interest, creditworthiness and downgrading, default, interest rate, general market and liquidity risks and therefore may adversely impact the net asset value of the Fund. Convertibles may also expose to risks such as prepayment, equity movement and greater volatility than straight bond
- The Fund may invest in financial derivative instruments ("FDI") which may expose to higher leverage, counterparty, liquidity, valuation, volatility, market and over the counter transaction risks. The Fund's net derivative exposure may be up to 50% of the Fund's net asset value.
- This investment may involve risks that could result in loss of part or entire amount of investors' investment.

• In making investment decisions, investors should not rely solely on this material.

Note: Dividend payments may, at the sole discretion of the Investment Manager, be made out of the Fund's capital or effectively out of the Fund's capital which represents a return or withdrawal of part of the amount investors originally invested and/or capital gains attributable to the original investment. This may result in an immediate decrease in the NAV per share and the capital of the Fund available for investment in the future and capital growth may be reduced, in particular for hedged share classes for which the distribution amount and NAV of any hedged share classes (HSC) may be adversely affected by differences in the interests rates of the reference currency of the HSC and the base currency of the Fund, particularly if such HSC are applying the IRD

¹The average annualized dividend yield of the last 12 months means the average of the annualized dividend yield of each month from November 2024 to October 2025. Annualized Dividend Yield = [(1+Dividend Per Share/Ex-Dividend Date NAV)12 -1] x 100. The annualized dividend yield is calculated based on the latest dividend distribution with dividend reinvested, and may be higher or lower than the actual annual dividend yield. Positive distribution yield does not imply positive return. Dividend is not guaranteed. Historical dividend yield is not indicative of future dividend payouts.

 $^{^{\}wedge}$ The currencies-hedged share classes are not recommended for investors whose base currency of investment is not in respective hedged currencies

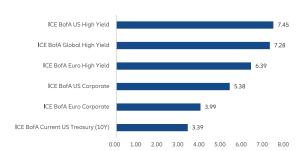

Market Insights

1. High Yield Bonds: Offering one of the highest yields globally

 High yield bonds are among the highest yielding fixed income options, offering a competitive level of yield with lower interest rate sensitivity.

3. Equities: V-shaped recovery

- US equities have recovered this year's losses as odds of a recession and global shock receded.
- Corporate earnings in Q1 remained resilient, highlighting the underlying strength of US companies.
- US trade and fiscal policies are beginning to take clearer shape with ongoing the tariff negotiations and tax policies. Anticipated Fed rate cuts could be a tailwind for the second half of the year.

The Federal Reserve is cutting rates again

1. Markets expect a lower terminal rate than FOMC's 'median dot'

- The Fed has resumed its rate cutting cycle in September in response to a softening labor market and moderating inflation.
- Markets are pricing in further easing through year-end, suggesting a target of 3.6% by end of 2025 and 3% by 2026
